

The MBA programmes

The MBA programmes at the University of Amsterdam are post-graduate programmes that help our candidates – your employee – develop a global mindset and become an independent leader equipped with the latest knowledge and skills. This means they are prepared for the challenges and opportunities in a fast-changing world.

Why send your employee to our MBA?

Cutting-edge knowledge and skills

- Vertical or horizontal growth – The curriculum aims to prepare students to become more well-rounded professionals, that can grow their career vertically to higher management roles or horizontally to new roles.
- Strong leadership skills – The Amsterdam Leadership Programme will sharpen their leadership style, making them more valuable and efficient in your organisation.
- Increased knowledge – We teach the latest developments in the industry, as well as strategies that can be directly implemented in your organisation.

Practical relevance

- Relevance to business – Our lecturers are not only academics, we also offer classes taught by industry leaders and we invite guest speakers from reputable organisations to showcase the latest practical insights to our students.
- The Company Project – The final element of the MBA is a consulting project within the organisation our candidates work for. This project is supervised by our professors, and meets the highest academic standards. Candidates will work on offering a practical solution to a real-case business problem.

Peer-learning

- Teamwork – Students will work together in group assignments with peers from a range of industries and roles.
- Global mindset – By working together with fellow students from different cultures, students enhance their international awareness and develop a global mindset.

Programme structure

- Part-time format – The programme is designed in a way that students can work during the day and take their classes during evening hours (twice a week, from 18.30 – 22.00).
- Boutique classes – We limit the number of students in our cohorts. Diversity and quality are key in selecting our candidates.
- Amsterdam – We are located in Amsterdam, a major European business and financial centre that offers our students a vast network of business connections.

Highest academic standards

- Triple Crown Accreditation – The Amsterdam Business School is among the top 1% business schools worldwide with the prestigious international “Triple Crown” accreditations.
- Global rankings – The University of Amsterdam is consistently ranked in the top 100 of the best universities in the world in both the QS ranking and the Times Higher Education World University Ranking.
